

Alitalia

Your Italian experience begins with Alitalia. Alitalia is the Italian national carrier, flying from both London Heathrow and London City airports to 26 Italian cities and many destinations worldwide.

Once in Italy, you can connect to further 25 cities including Florence, Venice, Naples, Verona and Palermo. Alitalia is also the only carrier to offer direct flights from London City Airport to Linate, Milan central city airport. To help you make the most of your day, Alitalia can offer you the first flights from Heathrow to both Rome and Milan and also the last flights back each day.

Customers' needs and quality of service are the focal points of Alitalia's strategy, so that every travel experience has that distinctive touch of Italian style. Alitalia also stands out for the major renewal of the fleet; new aircraft are gradually being added providing better quality flights and offering customers one of the youngest fleet in Europe.
